Bikers being sued for fundraising ride

Heroes Highway.
Organizer of motorcycle ride for veterans refuses to pay Oshawa's bill

On the first Saturday in June two years ago, thousands of motorcycles trundled from CFB Trenton along the Highway of Heroes to the Col. R.S. McLaughlin Armoury in Oshawa, where they were met by crowds waiting in the downpour.

The Heroes Highway Ride and Rally was to show support for Canada's troops and raise money for veterans' organizations. Deemed a success at the time, nearly two years later it has descended into a dispute between the event's organizers and the City of Oshawa.

Oshawa is suing organizer Lou DeVuono to recoup $5,600 for in-kind services — things like garbage pickup — during the 2011 event.

DeVuono is defiant.

"What they're doing is wrong. It's an insult to the Canadian Forces, it's an insult to the Canadian people and I stand opposed to it," said DeVuono. "I'm not going to pay the bill."

Oshawa's city solicitor told durhamregion.com the case was pending in small-claims court but did not return phone calls or emails from Torstar News Service.

In January 2011, DeVuono asked the city to partner with the Heroes Highway Ride and Rally Association to have the rally in Oshawa, which included a grant request for in-kind services valued at $19,300. The city's Community Services Committee endorsed the event and referred the grant request to the budget process.

Lou DeVuono TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE/FILE

DeVuono said he told the committee he needed certainty to plan the event in Oshawa, or move it elsewhere. He said he was assured it would pass. But councillors voted against it and DeVuono said the city notified him by letter about two months before the event.

"(They) said, 'We're not going to fund it, you're on your own,'" he said. "And I basically couldn't back out of it by then."

Oshawa Mayor John Henry said the City of Oshawa has "tremendous respect" for its soldiers and veterans. He has a daughter in the Royal Canadian Navy, stationed in Kingston.

"I do take offence to people questioning my loyalty to the Armed Forces when I'm sitting here worried about my family," said Henry. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

A 39-year-old woman has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death of a man who was savagely beaten and dumped in an east-end park in Toronto.

Florida. Ring offers clue in T.O. couple's deaths

The slaying of a Toronto couple found dead in their winter home in Florida may have been motivated by robbery, police said on Thursday.

Rochelle Wise's wedding band — valued at $16,000 — was missing from the couple's condo in Hallandale Beach, investigators said. The ring is described as platinum finish with five half-carat white diamonds.

"We are hoping that if we find this ring it may lead us to more information," Hallandale Beach police Chief Dwayne Flournoy told the Miami Herald.

It's the first clue to emerge regarding a possible motive in the deaths of Wise, 66, and David Pichosky, 71, whose bodies were found on Jan. 10. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Care legislation muddies waters

Act invites different interpretations. Former hospital association chief questions silence on investigation results after baby was wrongly pronounced dead

Confidentiality vs. disclosure

The quality-of-care act was pitched by the Liberals as a way to protect patient confidentiality, but it has morphed into a tool that some argue is misused to actually prevent patients from getting details about mistakes made in their care.

Humber River Hospital is wrong to use quality-of-care legislation to keep secret the results of its probe into how a newborn baby was wrongly declared dead, says Tom Closson.

Speaking with Torstar News Service, the former head of the Ontario Hospital Association suggested Humber CEO Rueben Devlin is misinterpreting what can and can't be revealed under the Quality of Care Information Protection Act.

"He should be telling everybody what they are going to do to make sure that they don't declare somebody dead," said Closson, former president of both the University Health Network and Sunnybrook Health Sciences Centre.

Humber did not respond to requests for an interview with Devlin on Thursday, but this week he told Torstar in an email that neither the findings nor the recommendations would be made public or released to the family of a newborn girl discovered alive 90 minutes after she was declared dead in February.

"There is nothing under (the act) that says he can't tell everybody what he is doing to improve the situation," Closson said.

But others, including Closson's successor at the OHA, disagree with that reading. And therein lies what some say is a major problem with the law: It's interpreted differently by hospitals across the province. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Murder

Suspect nabbed in club shooting

Police say a man wanted in a fatal shooting outside a bar in downtown Toronto is now in custody.

Nisar Hashimi, 23, was named Wednesday by police as a suspect in the death of Anthony Smith, who was shot outside a nightclub on King Street West near Portland last week.

Smith, 21, later died in hospital of his injuries.

Another man was also found lying on the sidewalk outside the club with gunshot wounds, but he survived his injuries.

Hashimi is facing charges of first-degree murder and attempted murder with a weapon. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sunday concert to benefit subway musician's family

Lokembe master. Proceeds will be used to bring man's three young sons to Toronto from Uganda

They called TTC musician Achilla Orru the soul of Bloor and Yonge, but before he died in February, his soul was preoccupied with one important matter: Bringing his family to Canada.

Orru, a celebrated musician who played his lokembe in international concert halls as well as the subway platform, was in the midst of arranging for his wife and three sons to emigrate to Canada when he was found dead in his apartment from complications of heart disease at 53.

Nadine Lumley, a longtime friend and artistic director of the Batuki Music Society, said Orru had the sponsorship papers and was trying to save enough money to cover airfare and DNA tests.

"When you're a musician, and you're blind, whatever resources you get are not that large," she said. "He was proud. Achilla didn't share it with a lot of people, but he was struggling."

Now his friends are taking up the cause with a benefit concert this Sunday night at Lula Lounge. Performers include Orru's band Baana Afrique, African Guitar Summit and his subway friends.

Orru, who was a world-renowned lokembe player and blind since childhood, met his wife, Rose, on one of his many trips to Uganda, the country where he was born and learned to play the thumb piano. They married in 2004.

Since his death, Orru's friend and lawyer Davies Bagambiire has been working to bring his family to Canada. On Tuesday, Rose landed in Toronto and was granted permanent-resident status. The couple's three boys, all younger than seven, are still in Uganda, under the temporary care of Rose's brother.

Now that Rose has landed, it will be easier for the rest of her family to come," Bagambiire says.

He says Rose — an elementary-school teacher in Uganda — will soon have her permanent resident card, and can then return to Uganda to care for the boys until they can come to Canada together. Five people were ready to become sponsors for the family, but immigration officials did not make Orru's death an issue.

Outpouring of support

- Since his death, people from the Ugandan community, Toronto's music scene and complete strangers have contributed to a trust fund to help pay for Achilla Orru's funeral and assist his children.
- A funeral service open to the public will be held at Wexford Heights United Church at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

City's 'affordable' rental program charged steep rents: Ombudsman

A program intended to provide affordable services for the city's poor let tenants down by breaking promises and charging steep rents, Toronto's ombudsman says.

Fiona Crean says Toronto's Below Market Rent program has been raising rents without notifying tenants, sometimes by as much as 550 per cent over three years.

In a report, Crean says BMR was not transparent about the reasons for the sharp increases. She adds that she had trouble getting firm numbers from program administrators.

She also says the city failed to provide the tenant agencies with written notices of increases, and didn't keep records of meetings with complainants.

City council unanimously voted to adopt the 22 recommendations tabled in her report, including apologizing to tenants for the treatment they received.

Some city councillors attributed the lapses to a shortage of staff at BMR, while others criticized employees for not fulfilling their duties.

Not up to the mark?

"Until that department is shaken up and people are made to do their jobs properly, without literally screwing around with their clients, we're not going to move forward."

Budget cuts

Cuts could leave refugees without legal aid

Most refugees coming from the 35 countries Ottawa has deemed "safe" will no longer be entitled to free legal counsel at their hearings, under budget cuts put forward by Legal Aid Ontario. The plan is to stop paying lawyers to appear at asylum hearings for refugees from "safe" countries, who face expedited processing and removal. Refugee lawyers say the cuts will jeopardize the outcome for those most in need of legal advice.

SCORECARDS, TRACKING PROMISES KEEPS TTC ACCOUNTABLE

ANDY BYFORD
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

We are a quarter of the way through a very busy 2013. Nine Customer Charter commitments were made for the first three months of the year and we will report back on first-quarter results via our website (ttc.ca) shortly.

In addition to our promises to improve on overall punctuality, customer communications and responsiveness to customer feedback, the TTC is also committed to making improvements in three more areas: renewal of key elements of our fleet, modernization of our facilities, and providing clean vehicles and stations.

Fleet renewal is well underway. Approximately half the service on the Yonge-University-Spadina line is operated with new Toronto Rocket trains. The full fleet will be delivered by 2015 and this will enable us to release the remainder of our next newest trains (T-1 fleet) to the Bloor-Danforth line, retiring the oldest of our fleet. In parallel, work is underway to install additional hand-holds on the new Rocket trains in response to customer feedback.

Progress is also being made on renewal of our surface fleet. We are testing our new low-floor streetcar that will progressively enter service from 2014, and at the end of the year we will take delivery of the first of 150 articulated buses to provide more capacity and greater reliability on our busiest bus routes.

Further commitments on modernization include plans to upgrade stations and to install elevators as part of our Easier Access program. By the end of this year, the modernization of Pape Station will be complete and work will have begun on the installation of elevators at Lawrence West and Coxwell stations.

When I took the helm of the TTC last year, I committed to a culture of continuous improvement. The Customer Charter reinforces this, as do the Key Performance Indicators that we now use to publicly track our performance. The time has come, now, to "stretch" a number of our targets in areas where I believe that we can do better than the figures set one year ago.

As such, targets are now tougher for elevator availability, Sheppard subway punctuality, Bloor-Danforth subway punctuality, system cleanliness and availability of fare machines. You can see our Daily Customer Service Report under the Customer Service Section at ttc.ca.

ETIQUETTE, PLEASE

This week, on April Fools' Day, TTC's Executive Director of Corporate Communications Brad Ross and Chief Customer Service Officer Chris Upfold revealed a new initiative: the first-ever "personal car." Announced on the "OfficialTTCchannel" on YouTube, the satirical video touched on common customer complaints, adding humour to often frustrating scenarios.

Whether it's clipping your nails, putting your feet on the seats, unknowingly bumping people with your bag, or eating messy food, the video maps out behaviours better suited for the home than public transit. Thankfully, the "personal car" initiative was only offered until noon on April 1 – April Fools' Day, of course!

Of the complaints that are fielded through the TTC's Customer Service centre, etiquette is difficult to enforce and resolve. These behaviours are a common pet peeve among riders who would prefer a clean, comfortable, quiet commute. Remember, in a public space, it is always better to practise common courtesy.

Try giving up your seat to a customer requiring assistance, or someone who simply looks tired; take your bag off and place it by your feet to give everyone a bit more room; or politely wait until all customers have left the train before boarding. It only takes a small act of kindness to make someone's day.

DID YOU KNOW?

The TTC increased service on many routes on March 31 to meet the demand of growing ridership. The additional service will reduce crowding, shorten wait times and improve service reliability. Visit ttc.ca for more details.

H7N9 causes 5th death in China

14 cases. It's not known how people are becoming sick, though scientists say the virus may have mutated, spreading more easily

Chickens are sold at a market in Shanghai, China. In a worrisome sign, a bird flu in China seems to have mutated so that it can spread to other animals, raising the potential for a bigger threat to people, say scientists. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A middle-aged man who transported poultry for a living and another unidentified person have died from a new strain of bird flu, bringing the death toll to five among 14 confirmed cases in China, the government and state media reported Thursday.

The 48-year-old man, who died in Shanghai, is one of several among the infected believed to have had direct contact with fowl. Until recently, the virus, called H7N9, was not known to infect humans.

The official Xinhua News Agency did not identify the fifth fatality, but said that person also died in Shanghai on Wednesday.

What will the new flu do?

Reading the clues

Three sick people. That's all it took to make scientists who study influenza edge-of-seat nervous this week over a rapidly evolving public health situation in China.

Four years after H1N1 swine flu, a new avian virus, H7N9, came out of nowhere.

While it's too soon to say if these are the first halting steps of a new pandemic virus, at this point flu experts would not bet against H7N9.

Here's what they saw, and the clues they are looking for as they race to figure out if the world is on the verge of a pandemic.

Influenza scientists always pay attention when animal flu viruses start making people sick. While some H7 viruses have infected people in the past, viruses bearing H7 and N9 in combination had never been known to infect humans.

Adding to the alarm: The three people were not linked. That means each caught the virus from an animal, or a person. So far the virus hasn't been found in poultry or pigs, the likely suspects.

Chinese authorities announced they had found a closely matched H7N9 virus in pigeons in Shanghai but could these be the sole source? The WHO's top flu expert, Dr. Keiji Fukuda, doesn't think so. "Not impossible but not the most likely scenario," he says.

The first three cases didn't live close to one another and the distance among infections has become greater, making it increasingly clear that H7N9 virus is spreading, undetected, over hundreds of kilometres.

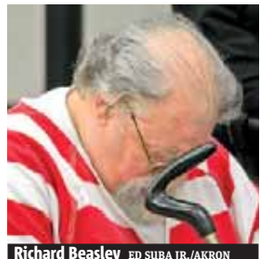
Craigslist killer gets death sentence for 3 murders

A self-styled street preacher was sentenced to death Thursday in the killings of three down-and-out men lured by bogus job offers posted on Craigslist.

The jury that convicted Richard Beasley of murder recommended that he face execution. The judge had the option of reducing the sentence to life in prison.

Beasley, 53, was convicted of teaming up with a teenager in 2011 to use the promise of jobs on an Ohio farm to lure them into robberies. Three men were killed, and a fourth who was wounded testified at trial.



Richard Beasley ED SUBA JR./AKRON BEACON JOURNAL/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The judge read the three death sentences in a hushed courtroom crowded with victims' relatives, some of them holding back tears.

Beasley skipped the chance to speak to the judge before the sentencing on the aggravated murder convictions.

Later, about to be sentenced on other crimes including kidnapping, Beasley said he sympathized with families of victims but said he was innocent and expects to have his conviction overturned on appeal.

Beasley's co-defendant, who was 16 at the time of the crimes, was too young to face the death penalty.

Poll. Canadians have little faith that their private information is protected

A newly released poll suggests Canadians overwhelmingly believe their private information is more at risk today than it was a decade ago and that the federal government and corporations don't take the issue very seriously.

The poll commissioned by the office of the federal privacy commissioner found about 70 per cent of Canadians believed there's less privacy protection today than there was 10 years ago.

Very few felt personal information was being safeguarded as much as it could be. Only 21 per cent of those polled felt the federal government took its responsibility to protect private information seriously, about 64 per cent responded "somewhat seriously" and 12 per cent chose "not seriously."

For businesses, 13 per cent of respondents said corporations take the issue seriously, 68 per cent chose "somewhat seriously" and 18 per cent replied "not seriously."

Train derailment

Oil spill 100 times worse than thought

The cleanup at the site of a freight train derailment in northwestern Ontario has broadened.

Canadian Pacific said it initially thought only four barrels of oil escaped, but it appears about 400 broke free.

Some 20 cars went off the tracks Wednesday halfway between Thunder Bay and Sault Ste. Marie. A CP spokesman said crews quickly contained a leak in one car but didn't realize another had spilled until much later that day. He said the spill was initially hidden under the snow. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Only death could silence prolific movie reviewer

Roger Ebert died Thursday at age 70. MATT SAYLES/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

Roger Ebert. Even after losing much of his jaw to cancer, critic kept his trademark wit coming Roger Ebert had the most-watched thumb in Hollywood.

With a twist of his wrist, the critic could influence a nation of moviegoers and sometimes make or break a film. He was best known as half of a TV duo with Gene Siskel and later with Richard Roeper.

Ebert, film critic for the Chicago Sun-Times since 1967, died Thursday at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, two days after announcing on his blog that he was undergoing treatment for a recurrence of cancer. He was 70.

"So on this day of reflection, I say again: thank you for going on this journey with me. I'll see you at the movies," he wrote Tuesday on his blog.

After cancer surgeries in 2006, Ebert lost portions of his jaw and the ability to speak, eat and drink. But he went back to writing full time and eventually even returned to TV. In addition to his work for the Sun-Times, he became a prolific user of social media, connecting with fans online.

In early 2011, Ebert launched a new show, Ebert Presents At the Movies. The show had new hosts and featured Ebert in his own segment, Roger's Office. He used a chin prosthesis and enlisted voice-over guests or his computer to read his reviews.

N. Korean missile on the move

Nukes. North is not believed to have mastered technology to miniaturize nuclear bombs to mount on long-range missiles

After a series of escalating threats, North Korea has moved a missile with "considerable range" to its east coast, South Korea's defence minister said Thursday.

But he emphasized the missile was not capable of reaching the United States and there are no signs that the North is preparing for a full-scale conflict.

North Korea has been railing against U.S.-South Korean military exercises that began in March and are to continue until the end of this month.

The allies insist the exercises in South Korea are routine, but the North calls them rehearsals for an invasion and says it needs nuclear weapons to defend itself. The North has also expressed anger over tightened UN sanctions for its February nuclear test.

Analysts say the ominous warnings in recent weeks are probably efforts to provoke softer policies from South Korea, to win diplomatic talks with Washington and solidify the image of young North Korean leader Kim Jong-un.

The report of the movement of the missile came hours after North Korea's military warned that it has been authorized to attack the U.S. using "smaller, lighter and diversified" nuclear weapons. The reference could be a claim that North Korea has improved its nuclear technology, or a bluff.

The North is not believed to have mastered the technology needed to miniaturize nuclear bombs. Nor has it demonstrated that those missiles, if it has them at all, are accurate. It also could be years before the country completes the process of creating enough weaponized fuel to back up its nuclear threats. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North gets hacked

Hackers apparently broke into two of North Korea's government-run online sites Thursday, as tensions rose on the Korean Peninsula.

A picture posted Thursday on the North's Flickr site shows North Korean leader Kim Jong-un's face with a pig-like snout and a drawing of Mickey Mouse on his chest. The text reads: "Threatening world peace with ICBMs and Nuclear weapons/Wasting money while his people starve to death."

A statement, purporting to come from the attackers Anonymous and circulated online, said that they had compromised 15,000 user records. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Algeria. Police identify remains

The remains of two young London, Ont., men were found in the wake of an Algerian gas plant siege in January, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police confirmed Thursday.

Authorities have identified Ali Medlej and Xristos Katsiroubas, officials said.

The announcement comes on the heels of media reports that the pair helped carry out a terrorist attack at the natural gas facility.

RCMP Insp. Marc Richer would neither confirm nor deny reports that the men were part of the group, saying only that they were there. Thirty-eight hostages and 29 militants were killed in the four-day fight.

"We are continuing our work, gathering evidence endlessly, to determine the circumstances that led to Ali Medlej and Xristos Katsiroubas departing Canada," Richer said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Will you let Facebook rule your phone?

Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg speaks about the new Home service for Android phones at the company's Menlo Park, Calif., headquarters Thursday. "We think this is the best version of Facebook there is," he said.

MARCIO JOSE SANCHEZ/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

April 12 launch. New Home service for Android users puts social network at centre of mobile life

With its new Home service on Android gadgets, Facebook aims to make its social network the hub of people's mobile experiences. The question, now, is whether people want all their Facebook content greeting them every time they look at their phones.

If users download Facebook's Home software starting on April 12, Facebook will become the centre of their Android smartphones. Switch on your phone and you'll see friends' photos, overlaid by status updates, links and, eventually, advertisements. If a friend sends you a message, their Facebook photo will pop up as a notification.

A feature called "chat heads" lets users communicate with their friends directly from their home screens without opening a separate app.

Done with Facebook? Swipe your finger to get to a screen with your regular Android apps to listen to music, watch videos or send email.

At first, Home will only work on some Android devices, including HTC Corp.'s One X and One X Plus and Samsung Electronics Co.'s Galaxy S III and Galaxy Note 2. A phone from HTC that comes pre-loaded with Home will be available starting April 12.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is this what users want?

- "What Facebook wants is to put itself at the front of the Android user experience for as many Facebook users as possible," said Forrester analyst Charles Golvin. While that makes sense for Facebook, he thinks the company is overestimating "the extent to which this is something their users want."
- "I'm sure there are people out there whose lives revolve around their social network and for them it makes sense to have it front and centre," Golvin said. "But this doesn't describe the majority of consumers."

Product chief departs

RBC downgrades Lululemon

RBC Capital Markets cut its rating on Lululemon Athletica Inc. and lowered its target price on the stock Thursday following the departure of the company's chief product officer.

RBC analyst Howard Tubin said Sheree Waterson was instrumental in the design process at the company for the last five years. "While we continue to believe Ms. Waterson has a solid design team in place, the loss of her creative leadership adds a new level of uncertainty to the story," RBC said in an analysis.

The departure of Waterson announced by the firm late Wednesday came just weeks after Lululemon pulled its black Luon yoga pants from store shelves over concerns they were too sheer. THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Library to preserve Internet for researchers

Capturing the unruly, ever-changing Internet is like trying to pin down a raging river. But the British Library is going to try.

For centuries the library has kept a copy of every book, pamphlet, magazine and newspaper published in Britain. Starting Saturday, it will also be bound to record every British website, e-book, online newsletter and blog in a bid to preserve the nation's "digital memory."

As if that's not a big enough task, the library also has to make this digital archive available to future researchers — come time, tide or technological change. The library says the work is urgent.

1 No fair. Kim Jong-un is being unfairly criticized for his threats by people who just don't know the story. You see, after the Second World War, both countries laid claim to the southern territory, but the North lost a controversial game of Rock, Paper, Scissors. They lobbied for a "do-over," but the South asserted that the agreement was stamped "No erasies" with a "No take-backs" clause. Furthermore, South Korea's President Park Geun-hye maintains that Kim's intimidation is feeble because "We are rubber and they are glue ..." (Note: This is NOT historically accurate. It only seems that way.)

2 Spaced out. American physics professor John Cramer released an upgraded version of his recording of the theorized Big Bang that formed the universe. Cramer explains that with no air to vibrate, space has no sound, but that the medium that pervaded the universe in the first 100,000 years-ish was far more dense than the atmosphere of the Earth. All I heard was "no sound in space," thinking, "Can we send Miley Cyrus there?"

3 Sins of the father. An international team of researchers revealed a "genetic risk profile" for smokers. Ostensibly, people with a certain DNA may be predisposed to cigarette addiction. Right now, insurance companies are determining how to charge additional premiums to "elite non-smokers" based solely on their genetic makeup. Thanks guys.

4 Knocked up. Fans and media have been critical of Kim Kardashian's weight and maternity fashions. Last week, Kylie defended her step-sis, saying, "It pisses me off when people say, 'You're so fat' to Kim." Khloe stated, "OMG, I love her style," while Kourtney said, "Boo. They're jealous!" then Kendall said, "If you like it and feel good, why not?" ... and then my head exploded.

5 Smartphone. In Brazil, a woman jumped onto the subway tracks for her cellphone just as the train was arriving. The driver sounded the horn while the woman struggled to reach the platform. Two men pulled her out as the train barely missed her legs, inspiring Apple's new slogan: "iPhone5. More important than life itself."

6 Carry-on? Oh, Justin. Everyone knows you don't take your monkey to Munich without proper paperwork! Now, German authorities have given the Biebs four weeks to get him, or he'll be thrown in with the other confiscated monkeys.

7 Take a bow. Twitter exploded when Rihanna's tour bus stopped at a Walmart in Kamloops, B.C., last Sunday. Sources say the megastar entered McDonald's, bought a soft drink and made a donation to McHappy Day. She then browsed the ladies clothing section, moving gracefully, almost floating across the floor, radiating light and smelling like fresh-cut grass on a summer's day. Everyone waved as the bus pulled away, and for just one brief moment, there was peace.

8 FYI. This week in 1975, the extraordinary Minnie Riperton hit No. 1 with Loving You. Many still remember that famous high-note. Four years later, Riperton succumbed to cancer, leaving husband Richard Rudolph with daughter, Maya.
Yes, the same Maya Rudolph who made you laugh on SNL and in movies like Bridesmaids and Grown Ups.
OK, maybe not Grown Ups.

In this city, transit is free

CITY OF TALLINN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Estonian capital pulls a world's first

A woman is seen placing her transit pass on an electronic reader on a city bus in the Estonian capital of Tallinn. It became the world's first capital to introduce free public transport for all residents. The initiative covers buses, streetcars and trolleybuses. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Total cost

$16M

Deputy Mayor Taavi Aas says the experiment, which will cost the city some 12 million euros ($16 million) annually in lost ticket sales, has surpassed expectations. Passenger numbers are up 10 per cent, while the number of cars on city streets has fallen by as much as 15 per cent, according to Tallinn's transport authority. People move around more often, Aas said, adding, "This means they also spend more money, which boosts the economy."

Strategy actually builds city's revenue

The program is expected to boost the city's tax revenue because the registration requirement is essentially winning the city more taxable residents.

According to city calculations, some 40,000 people living and working in Tallinn are registered in other cities and towns. But more than 5,000 new Tallinn residents have been registered since Jan. 1, compared with 3,600 residency registrations during all of last year.

With 1,000 new residents equalling an estimated 1 million euros in tax revenue, the current registration rate would offset the cost. The only catch is that one must be registered as a city resident and get a two-euro transit pass. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Synopsis

It's spring! The days are getting longer, former Disney darlings are doing the Bikini Bounce on-screen in Spring Breakers and the Reel Guys have finally packed away their snow shovels and winter boots. So what better way to celebrate this time of growth and renewal than by staying indoors and watching movies? Today the Reel Guys select their favourite movies to usher in the new season.

Crime thriller Spring Breakers, a flick that sees former Disney stars go wild, is one of many movies embracing the season. HANDOUT

Films that will put a spring in your step

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Weary of winter? It's (hopefully) time to put away coats and bust out bikinis as the Reel Guys celebrate the coming of warm weather

Richard: Mark, there have been some Razzie winners based around spring break, that most springy of spring traditions. The Real Cancun and From Justin to Kelly spring to mind, but there have also been some pretty good ones. No one is going to mistake Reno 911! Miami as great art, but this rude, nude and lewd movie is quite funny, especially if exploding whales make you laugh. I also like the grandma of all spring break movies, Where the Boys Are. What movies remind you of spring?

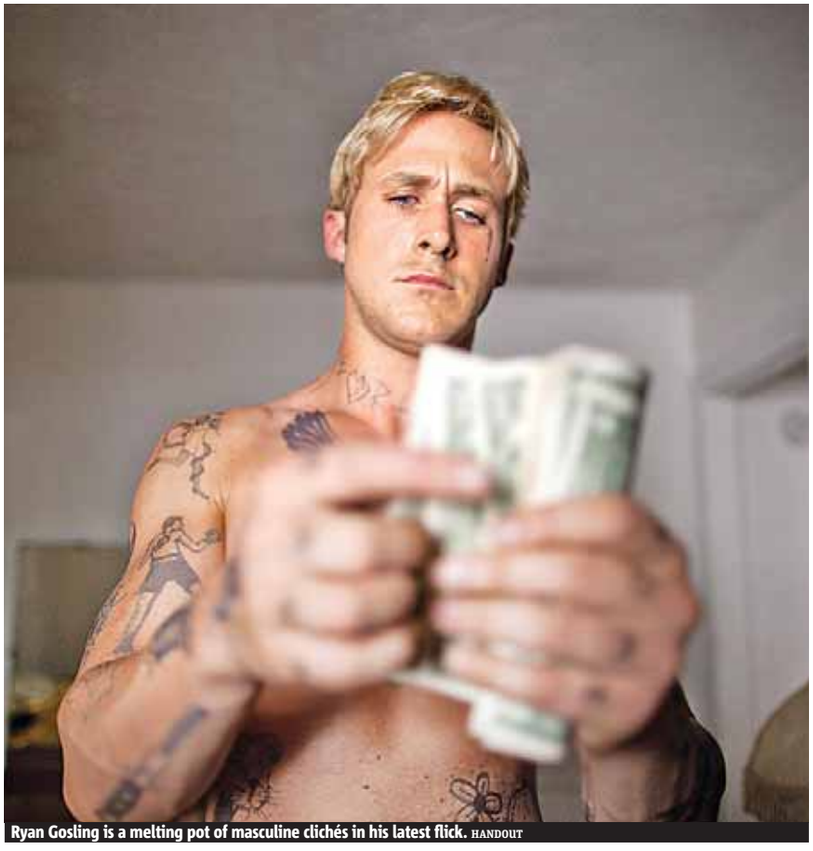
Mark: Richard, to me ALL beach movies are spring movies, the formula being heat + teenagers + hope = spring. You mention Where the Boys Are, but my vote goes to For Those Who Think Young, a 1964 confection starring James Darren as a wealthy playboy trying to romance chaste Pamela Tiffin. It also stars Paul Lynde, Bob Denver, Tina Louise and Nancy Sinatra. But most importantly, there's a lot of footage of the great forgotten Florida comic Woody Woodbury. And it features the greatest movie car ever: a '64 Buick Riviera with the roof sliced neatly in two. I can't say enough good things about this bad movie.

RC: For the adults out there I'd recommend The Four Seasons, written, directed and starring everybody's favourite MASH surgeon Alan Alda. It uses the seasons — beginning in spring — to show the stages of friendship between three middle-aged couples. If it sounds too mid-life crisis-y for you, don't forget, it's also a comedy and Carol Burnett is terrific in it.

MB: Yes, it's a very good movie, with Carol Burnett in it, but it also has Bo Derek in it, too! And if The Four Seasons is about the cycle of renewal that comes with Spring, consider the Korean film Spring, Summer, Fall, Winter ... and Spring, which trumps the Alda film by an extra Spring. This quiet, meditative film about a Buddhist monk is best enjoyed on a Sunday night with a big pot of green tea. It's very good, but it doesn't have Bo Derek in it.

RC: On the other end of the scale we have Piranha 3D, Spring Break Massacre and Banshee!!! (they added the three exclamation marks, not me!!!) all of which are cautionary spring break tales.

MB: Yes, Richard, they may all be cautionary tales about spring break, but also about having a lousy agent.



Ryan Gosling is a melting pot of masculine clichés in his latest flick. HANDOUT

The Place Beyond the Pines. Actor talks about playing a guy who makes nothing but bad decisions

MATT PRIGGE
Metro World News in New York

Yes, Ryan Gosling is aware of the "Hey girl" meme. When the subject is bravely broached, the already quiet actor smiles and squirms in his chair.

"Remember when Fabio was on that rollercoaster and he got hit in the face by a pigeon? I kind of feel like that pigeon lately. Wrong place, wrong time."

Gosling is bit more open when talking about his new film, The Place Beyond the Pines, his second for director Derek Cianfrance. The two are on the same page.

"We were making Blue Valentine," he remembers, "and I had this cockamamie theory that I could rob a bank and get away with it. I wasn't so afraid of jail. He said that was crazy, that he had just written a movie about that. So it felt like we should make it."

In the Place Beyond the Pines, Gosling plays Luke, a face-tattooed carnival motorcycle racer who, in the opening, discovers one of his flings has resulted in a baby boy. In an effort to support him, and hopefully reunite with the mother (Eva Mendes), he becomes a bank robber. This is only the first act of the film, and his actions have repercussions throughout the shape-shifting narrative.

"It's all about consequences," Gosling explains. "It's this guy who's a melting pot of masculine clichés: muscles, tattoos, motorcycles, guns, knives. He learns those things don't make you a man at all. He's not a man, he's just surface — a superficial person without depth. In keeping with his character, he has this melodramatic, over-romanticized idea of how to turn this sinking ship around."

Not that he did too much delving into his character. "There's not much going on inside of Luke. He's a pretty surface-level person who is faced with his own lack of depth. I tried not to think too much," he says.

Reality — in ink

Derek Cianfrance and Ryan Gosling put the priority on realism, down to the tiniest detail, including Gosling's tattoos for the film. "We wanted to make the tattoos look a mess, from someone who lived a life of not thinking things through and making bad decisions," says Gosling.

From Holy Motors to loving hooligans

Eva Mendes. Actress says she feels like she's been prepping for her latest role her "whole life"

MATT PRIGGE
Metro World News in New York

The Place Beyond the Pines opens next Friday. HANDOUT

The last time Eva Mendes was seen on screens was in Holy Motors, in which she played a model kidnapped by a belligerent underground man-beast with a curved goatee. She had no lines and barely broke her icy model facade. It was a kind of commentary, if perhaps accidental, on the career of Mendes, a beautiful woman and, earlier last decade, an It Girl — a designation that tends to stick for three or so years before being unceremoniously taken away.

"I'm an actress," Mendes insists, with a relaxed smile. "I'm certainly not a glamazon. I turn it on when I have to, if I have to wear something on the red carpet to sell a movie. That's not where the art lies."

Mendes has done her fair share of questionable Hollywood product (2 Fast 2 Furious, Hitch, Ghost Rider). But she's always made room for more challenging fare, such as We Own the Night, Bad Lieutenant: Port of Call New Orleans and Training Day, in which she played Denzel Washington's mistress. "I was as raw as you could be in that movie," she recalls. "That's what I gravitate towards. When you do the bigger Hollywood films they like you a little more cleaned up."

She's now in The Place Beyond the Pines, a three-part megadrama in which she plays a small town waitress who sired a baby with a carnival motorcycle racer played by her real-life boyfriend Ryan Gosling.

"I feel like I've been prepping for this role my whole life, whether I realized it or not," she says.

The film spans 15 years, requiring her to don some light aging makeup. "I didn't think of it as aging. I thought of it as a pain manifesting its way through time," she says. She still had tricks to make her look — and act — older.

"I had garments I would wear under my clothes to make me feel a certain way." She even shaved her eyebrows down a very thin line — in the middle of the night, without telling her director, Derek Cianfrance.

"These were things that would suggest this is a woman who abandoned herself. That's where I went with it."

Horror

Evil Dead

Director. Fede Alvarez

Stars. Jane Levy, Shiloh Fernandez

Sam Raimi's original 1982 shocker The Evil Dead was a wall-to-wall, DIY splatter landmark. The Raimi produced, Fede Alvarez directed remake however forgoes most of the manic energy of the first picture (and its sequels) in favour of atmospheric chills, baroque elegance and an absolutely jaw-dropping onslaught of vicious, stomach churning carnage. The set-up is the same: a bunch of kids go to a cabin in the woods, read from a demonic book, get possessed and hack each other into butcher spoils. But a wild final act pushes the film into histrionic horror art. CHRIS ALEXANDER

Comedy/Drama

The Sapphires

Director. Wayne Blair

Stars. Chris O'Dowd, Deborah Mailman, Jessica Mauboy

At the height of the girl group craze of the late 1960s four Australian Aboriginal teens, tutored by piano player and manager Dave Lovelace (Chris O'Dowd), take a shot at fame. And try not to get shot at during their gigs singing for the troops in Vietnam. The Sapphires is at its best when it embraces its light and fluffy soul. Romances swirl, as do glittery costumes. It's a slight, but entertaining take, with great performances, on the effect of music to change people's lives.
RICHARD CROUSE

Documentary

Love, Marilyn

Director. Liz Garbus

Stars. Viola Davis, Marisa Tomei

More than 50 years after her untimely death, the world is still infatuated with Marilyn Monroe and desperate to glean as much as possible about the larger-than-life leading lady. Love, Marilyn gives audiences the opportunity to learn about the woman behind the persona. Her personal diary entries, which are read by an impressive cast, reveal a shocking depth that many may not expect from the Gentlemen Prefer Blondes actress. Director Liz Garbus combines these monologues with archival footage and original interviews to tell a compelling story.
REGAN REID

Drama

Hit 'N Strum

Director. Kirk Caouette

Stars. Michelle Harrison, Kirk Caouette

When a powerhouse lawyer runs into a homeless man in a hit and run, an unlikely friendship changes both their lives forever in Kirk Caouette's Hit 'N Strum. Following the incident, the well-intentioned but clueless Stephanie (Michelle Harrison) is determined to get busker Mike (Caouette) back on his feet, but complications arise as the pair realizes they occupy different worlds despite living in the same city. Hit 'N Strum perfectly juxtaposes Vancouver's wealth and natural beauty, enjoyed only by a few, with the gritty reality of life on the streets.
MANORI RAVINDRAN

Carrying the torch

"The story is relevant because we still stand on his shoulders. He started something — I would even say maybe he didn't even start it, it started before him. But he carried the torch. And he carried it alone for a period of time before other people could help him."

Chadwick Boseman who portrays baseball great Jackie Robinson in the new film 42.

I wear it for my mother.
My mom was diagnosed with uterine cancer at age 52 when I was still a teenager and fought it with amazing strength and optimism that was an inspiration to our whole family. Today, she is a happy, healthy woman who continues to inspire the people around her.
It is estimated that 186,400 new cases of cancer were diagnosed in Canada in 2012. Supporting cancer research can help to find new and better ways to diagnose and treat the disease.
Support Canadians living with cancer. Wear a daffodil.
Dorthe, daughter of a uterine cancer survivor.

Thicke blurring the lines with latest album

Online videos. With his wife's blessing, Robin Thicke pushes the boundaries by releasing an unrated and kid-friendly version of first single

Robin Thicke didn't plan on releasing the unrated version of his music video for the song Blurred Lines, which features nude models prowling around him and rappers Pharrell and T.I.

Then his friends and actress-wife Paula Patton weighed in.

"When I first got both videos, I liked them both, but I thought the first one is so good maybe we'll just release that and not release the second one. And then I started playing it for my friends and my lady, and everybody just thought it was great," he said. "It's entertainment."

Thicke's unrated video hit the Web on Tuesday and so far it has more than one million views on YouTube. The original kid- and teen-friendly version debuted last week and has close to 800,000 views.

The 36-year-old singer said director Diane Martel came up with the idea of using nude models.

"As long as it's fun and the girls are comfortable, let's do something silly," Thicke said. "Let's take some chances."

Thicke said his wife was OK with the models on the set and he sought her approval: "Obviously if she didn't like it, I wouldn't put it out."

Blurred Lines will appear on Thicke's sixth album, due out this summer. He said because of his upcoming album, he won't appear on the second season of BET's Real Husbands of Hollywood, which also stars comedian-actor Kevin Hart. The hit show recently wrapped its first season.

"We tried to work it out. I really love the show and love being on the show and it just turned out the time they needed to shoot I was finishing the album," said Thicke, who added that he's written and will direct a short film. "It was just too much going on to come back."

The Grammy winner's new album will feature producers such as will.i.am and the Cataracs, and Thicke said he's also reached out to 2 Chainz, Kendrick Lamar and A$AP Rocky to guest feature.

School's out for Bieber: Exams postponed for pop concerts

Officials at five Norwegian schools have reportedly rescheduled their midterm exams so as not to coincide with a pair of Justin Bieber concerts later this month, according to Fox News. The school officials were apparently concerned that holding the exams in conflict with the April 16 and 17 concerts would lead to students skipping the tests in favour of seeing Bieber. The singer himself apparently approves, tweeting a link to the news with the comment, "Love this."

Your number is up: Online hacking scheme outs info of the stars

Angelina Jolie, Robert De Niro and Lady Gaga are reportedly some of the latest celebrities to fall victim to hacking, with personal data ranging from social security numbers to credit scores to addresses appearing online, according to TMZ. The FBI is now investigating the site where the info was posted, which has since gone offline and is said to be run out of Madagascar. The same site popped up a few weeks ago publishing information on Michelle Obama, Joe Biden, Mel Gibson and others before quickly being taken down. No arrests have been made so far.

Are Will and Jada getting jiggy with it?

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

Do Will and Jada Smith have an open marriage? If you read between the lines in a recent interview with the star with Huffington Post Live, it certainly seems like it.

"I've always told Will, 'You can do whatever you want as long as you can look at yourself in the mirror and be OK,'" she said. "Because at the end of the day, Will is his own man. I'm here as his partner, but he is his own man. He has to decide who he wants to be and that's not for me to do for him. Or vice versa."

Don't let my husband read this, please.

Amanda Bynes

It's her birthday and she'll act weird if she wants to

Amanda Bynes celebrated her 27th birthday in New York earlier this week by exhibiting some "bizarre" behaviour, eyewitnesses tell E! News. Bynes was browsing for pipes in a market in flip-flops, sweatpants and a loose wig over her long hair. "She had this shoulder-length mousy wig and then all the hair was hanging out underneath. It was bizarre. She looked homeless," the eyewitness says, adding that Bynes raised more eyebrows upon leaving the store: "She was crossing into traffic, wasn't waiting for any of the lights to change, and a cab almost hit her twice." For those keeping track, Bynes has been spotted with fading red dye in her hair, even though she previously claimed that shots of her with red hair were of an imposter.

Donald Trump

Trumps's suit against Maher shelved, for now

Donald Trump has dropped his $5 million lawsuit against comedian and television host of Bill Maher — which started over Maher's insistence that he would donate that amount of money to charity if Trump could prove he's not the son of an orangutan — but that doesn't mean the suit is history. "The lawsuit was withdrawn to be amended and refiled at a later date," Trump's attorney, Michael Cohen, tells E! News. Maher made his initial challenge to Trump after the Apprentice boss publicly offered to donate $5 million to charity if Barack Obama would produce his original birth certificate.

Suit that makes you look like a million dollar man

Owning a hand crafted, custom fitted suit is the dream of every man and woman. But finding a tailor and staying within budget can often be a challenge. So, you continue to buy ill-fitting suits off the rack – suits that are not customized to the nuances of your body type and size.

An end to an ill fitted off the rack suit

Now a hand cut, hand stitched suit is within your reach through BMV Bespoke, one of Hong Kong's highly respected custom tailors. BMV has been creating custom crafted suits for over 50 years, and have built their reputation on attention to detail, offering fine fabrics and affordability.

BMV Bespoke is passionate about creating the best possible fitted suits for their clients – before a thread is cut or a measurement is taken, your BMV tailor will carefully observe and note every detail of your unique body type to ensure your suit fits to perfection.

"As tailors, we love to see somebody coming to us wearing an off-the-rack, ill-fitting suit, which often costs a fortune and then walk out with one of our perfectly fitted, custom made suits. With BMV, our superior quality and fit often costs so much less, yet fits so much better." ~ BMV's Director and Lead-cutter.

When buying off the rack, the only options are what is in front of a person- the shoulders may be too wide or too narrow or the fit may just not be comfortable.

Men who buy off the rack almost always need to have their suits altered, but by visiting a BMV bespoke, they can have a suit made exactly to their specifications and body type.

"We cut from scratch and make full suit according to individual preference," explains William Bal of BMV Bespoke Tailors.

They visit major cities several times a year, taking custom orders, including tailor-made shirts starting at just $59 upto $250 & suit starting at $329 goes upto $3500 depending on different qualities.

BMV's expert tailors, visits major cities across Canada 7 - 8 times a year. To be custom fitted and select a fabric from the thousands offered by BMV, call the number for your city on the dates provided. Ask for Mr. William Bal or BMV Bespoke.

Once an order is placed, the craftsmanship begins almost immediately, thanks to today's digital technology. You will receive your suit within 4 to 6 weeks after your custom fitting, or you can request express delivery, where your suit will be delivered within 10 business days. You also have the option of having BMV bring your suit during their next visit to your city.

BMV's most expensive suit, made of luxurious cashmere, sells for only $3,500, which is considerably less than places like the Savile Row suit company.

Dig in! Feast of Thrones

Liquid Assets

Booze fit for any noble

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

Since I'm the guy who's still working his way through the first season of Mad Men, I've been slow getting into Game of Thrones. That said, Thrones' plot line may have me forsaking Don Draper in favour of Tyrion Lannister.

I'm on board with any show that could possibly involve a feast or two. After all, where there's a chance of wild beast being served there's bound to be booze.

It's no cliché that white meats generally call for whites wines. Their texture and subtle flavours can get steamrolled by many reds, but not all. Chicken, especially one coated with a fruit or honey glaze, is a perfect match for the bright berry flavours that ooze from the pinot noir grape.

Thrones' tales of infighting and epic battles remind me of France, pinot's original home that's no stranger to clashes of historic proportions.

The 2011 Baron Philippe de Rothschild Pinot Noir Vin de Pays d'Oc ($11.95 to $13.99) from southern France has a soft, mushroom-meets-strawberry aroma and more than enough mouth appeal to match with honeyed chicken and fantasy world conniving.

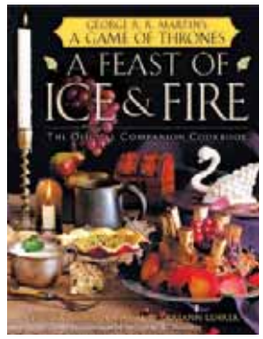
Food. HBO's Game of Thrones returned for Season 3 last week and what better way to celebrate than host a medieval-themed dinner party based on the epic fantasy novels and TV series?

ROMINA MCGUINNESS
Metro World News in London



A Feast of Ice and Fire, the official Game of Thrones cookbook, recreates some of the mouth-watering recipes featured in the novels, including Dothraki Blood Pie and Hen on the Wall.

Co-author and Chef Chelsea Monroe-Cassel talks us through how to throw a premiere party, Westeros style.

Setting the scene: Rich, romantic and grandiose

We don't all live in castles, so it can be tough to transform a regular apartment into something that looks the part. One thing you can do is to set up some kind of entrance. Try to find a brocade or velvet throw from a thrift store.

Split it down the middle and tie it to either side of a door using gold cord to make a grander entryway. Illuminate the room by lighting candles everywhere.

I'd avoid using scents that are too overpowering, such as rose or patchouli, as the heavy smell could clash with the flavours of the food. Simple beeswax is best.

Table etiquette: Finger licking is OK

There's something awesome about being dressed up in a cloak and sat around a table eating chicken with your fingers by candlelight. Most of your guests will be hardcore fans, and think it's awesome. But others may be a little more reluctant. So if you take away their forks, leaving just knives and napkins, they'll have to play along like everyone else. Put in the extra effort to find medieval looking dishes and silverware, anything made from wood or pewter works.

The feast: Dig in

People think medieval food is gross, but recipes that sound weird are delicious once made. ... Seeing an opulent spread of food is really satisfying. So once everything is ready, lay it all out on the table at once. The only course that should be saved for later is the dessert. Serve it once your guests have settled down to watch the show in the lounge. Lastly, don't forget to quench your guests' thirst. Make sure you have plenty of red wine and apple cider to get you through the night.

Top tip

Here is the party tip that tops Monroe-Cassel's list.

- The invite. ...A physical invitation is incredibly important. Plus, having something mysteriously delivered to your doorstep is so much cooler than an online notification.

Appetizer. Very simple but tasty Dornish fare

"We haven't gotten to this in the show yet, but the Dornish have some of the best finger food. Take a platter and heap it with purple olives, flatbread, hummus and feta cheese."

Ingredients

- Hummus
- Purple Olives
- Pita bread
- Feta Cheese

1. Place the hummus, olives, pita bread and feta cheese on a platter and serve.

Dinner. Honeyed Chicken

"This is essentially just a roast chicken with a good sauce, but it's great because it's straight out of the halls of Winterfell. Plus, if you deny your guests silverware, they have to tear into it with their bare hands."

1. Rub chicken down with olive oil and salt. Heat oven at 450 F and leave to roast for approximately one hour.

2. In meantime, combine all ingredients for sauce in pan and leave to simmer until the raisins look plump and the mixture thickens. Remove from the heat and when the chicken is done, coat it with honey sauce.

Ingredients

- 1 whole chicken for roasting
- Olive oil
- Salt

Sauce:

- 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
- 1/3 cup honey
- 1 tsp fresh mint
- Small handful of raisins
- 1/2 tbsp butter

$340K in jewelry stolen from Bosh

Blue Jays bat come around

MLB. Toronto salvages first win as offence clicks to redeem series finale versus Cleveland

Blue Jays Jose Bautista and Jose Reyes celebrate Bautista's offence-sparking, first-inning home run on Thursday at Rogers Centre. The Blue Jays topped the Indians 10-8. CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS

J.P. Arencibia homered twice and Jose Bautista, Edwin Encarnacion and Colby Rasmus also found the stands for Toronto as Blue Jay bats came alive in a wild and woolly 10-8 win over the Cleveland Indians on Thursday.

It was a back-and-forth game of long ball with homers accounting for 10 of the runs in Toronto's first victory of the season.

It didn't come easy. Like a slasher-movie maniac, the Indians refused to stop coming at the Jays.

Cleveland (2-1) out-hit Toronto 14-9 and had the bases loaded with two out in the eighth and the score 9-8 before second baseman Emilio Bonifacio ended the inning with a tough throw to first.

Toronto (1-2) scored insurance in the bottom of the eighth when Bautista beat out a double play, allowing Jose Reyes to score — punishing Indian reliever Matt Albers for a pair of one-out walks.

Closer Casey Janssen pitched a 1-2-3 ninth — with two strikeouts to get the save.

Attendance was 19,515, compared to the opening-day sellout of 48,857 and Wednesday's 24,619. But fans got their money's worth on Thursday.

Manager's return

Farrell set to arrive at dome

Friday's game against the Boston Red Sox has been circled on the calendar for months by Blue Jays fans.

John Farrell GETTY IMAGES

Ever since ex-manager John Farrell orchestrated his indelicate exit from Toronto, the city's fans have been awaiting their opportunity to heap scorn upon the Ohio native.

It's sure to be a hostile homecoming for Farrell, who managed the Jays for two disappointing seasons before he was traded to Boston in October to pursue his "dream job" with the Red Sox. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Leafs come out of deadline limping

NHL. Toronto falls to Philadelphia and loses red-hot sniper Lupul to 'upper-body injury'

Former Maple Leafs tough guy Jay Rosehill scored the winner and Ilya Bryzgalov made 25 saves on Thursday as the Philadelphia Flyers defeated Toronto 5-3.

Simon Gagne, Jakub Voracek, Brayden Schenn and Luke Schenn, into an empty net, had the other goals for Philadelphia (17-17-3), which won its fourth straight game.

Sean Couturier added two assists for the Flyers.

Nikolai Kulemin, John-Michael Liles and James van Riemsdyk scored for Toronto (20-13-4), which lost left-winger Joffrey Lupul in the first period to an upper-body injury after he took a hard hit.

Leafs forward Ryan Hamilton hits Flyers defenceman Kent Huskins.
NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

James Reimer made 26 saves for the Maple Leafs in just his fifth regulation loss, a day after Toronto management decided against bringing in a veteran goaltender at the NHL trade deadline. Dion Phaneuf chipped in with two assists.

Of more concern for the Maple Leafs than the end of their three-game winning streak and eight-game point streak (5-0-3) is the status of the red-hot Lupul, who appeared to take a blow to the head after being sandwiched by Rosehill and Philadelphia's Adam Hall.

Lupul has eight goals and six assists since returning from a broken forearm on March 16. He got back to his feet after the hit as play continued but was wobbly and had to be helped onto the bench.

NHL to announce Classic is back on

It will be low-key and with less fanfare, but the NHL will officially announce on Sunday that the outdoor Winter Classic between the Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings is back on, according to Torstar News Service.

The league has called a news conference for Sunday at Joe Louis Arena during which it will reveal the jerseys the Leafs and Wings will wear for the game that is expected to draw more than 100,000 people to the football stadium at the University of Michigan.

The Jan. 1 game was a casualty of the lockout in 2013. There is talk it may be shifted from its usual Jan. 1 slot.

Last year the league announced that the Classic was heading to Detroit, and that it would be accompanied by festivities through the holiday season including outdoor games for teams in the AHL, OHL and U.S. colleges.

Louisville has big hole to fill with Ware sidelined

His full-leg cast and crutches aside, Kevin Ware is no different from the rest of his Louisville teammates this week. He's at team meetings. He's going to practice. He's riding the bus. He even put on his jersey to pose for the stock images that will be used during the Final Four telecast.

"He's doing everything he would normally do," Peyton Siva said. Except playing.

Ware's presence at the Final Four is an emotional boost for the Cardinals, coming just days after he broke his lower right leg in gruesome fashion. But his absence on the floor leaves the top-seeded Cardinals vulnerable for the first time in the NCAA tournament.

Ware has been invaluable for the Cardinals, giving coach Rick Pitino a much-needed backup for Siva and Russ Smith, the high-octane guards at the heart of Louisville's suffocating defence.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You have never been afraid to fight for your rights but you need to remember that others have rights as well. You could force your wishes on others today but it's really not worth the bad feeling.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
If you are the focus of gossip, the best way to deal with it is to laugh it off. It seems someone is stirring up trouble and hoping you will react. Now that you know, act cool.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
You may not like it when others make decisions for you but the planets indicate you will have to grin and bear it today. Sometimes you have no choice but to follow orders. But you'll get your revenge.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
Your rivals are not nearly as powerful or influential as they think they are. Your best defense when confronted by anger or animosity is to just ignore them. Imagine they don't exist — and for you they won't.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
There is something you know you must do, something you should probably have done weeks ago. Stop just thinking about it and do something concrete. Take the first step and the rest will come easy.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
You can't resist giving advice —it's part of your nature — but don't be surprised if what you say today is outright rejected by a friend. You're allowed to give advice but they don't have to take it.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
There will be situations over which you have no control and you need to accept that. Don't waste your time and energy trying to change what cannot be changed. Relax — it's life.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Don't be too eager to get rid of one thing so you can have another, because it may not be as simple as that. If you are thinking of making changes, try waiting a few days. They may be unnecessary.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
You may be inclined, in true Sagittarian fashion, to throw everything at a problem in the hope that one huge effort will solve it. Maybe it will, but more likely you will exhaust yourself. Is it really worth the effort?

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You seem to believe that the world is against you, that negative forces are plotting to bring you down. You've been reading too many conspiracy theories. The world is not against you, it loves you.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Is it possible to affect the outcome of a situation by thinking strong and positive thoughts about it? Yes, it is. And if you give it a go over the next few days you will be amazed by the results.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
It will be easy to lose your temper with someone today but is it worth the effort? No, it's not. The best way to deal with those who annoy you is to pretend they don't exist.
